Course Description

Drs. Bennett, Gelb, and Patel are proud to present their first annual Dental Sleep Medicine Continuum in conjunction with Nierman Practice Management. This continuum offers practicing dentists a comprehensive program aimed at providing hands on clinical experience in all aspects of Oral Appliance Therapy (OAT). This expertise gained will enable the practitioner to successfully treat Obstructive Sleep Apnea and disruptive snoring. The 3 session, 6 day program is ideal for those just beginning in the treatment of Dental Sleep Medicine (DSM) as well as those wanting to expand their knowledge and increase their experience in providing oral appliance therapy to more patients in the practice.

The course will consist of three weekends and will include lectures from nationally known experts and hands on clinical experience. When the course is finished, the participant will have the knowledge to evaluate patients for Sleep Disordered Breathing problems and also how to screen for Temporomandibular Joint Disorders. Many different oral appliances will be discussed and students will have the opportunity to have three different custom made devices made specifically for each of them. Lab breakout sessions will allow the participant to learn standard patient examination techniques, be proficient in the taking of impressions and bite relationships for the different appliances, fitting of the appliances, suggestions on the adjusting of the appliances and management of potential side effects. Many more advanced topics will include pediatric OSA, surgical procedures for OSA along with their specific indications and combination therapy for the more severe sleep apneic patients. Participants will learn the nuances of Dental Sleep medicine practice management and will learn how to collaborate with their physician colleagues to successfully treat this severe medical problem.

This course will provide 48 hours of CE credit along with a solid foundation for the participants in studying for DSM board examinations.
